DEPARTMENT OF THE TERRITORIAL SECRETARY.

REGINA, March 1, 1904.

To His Honour

AMÉDÉE EMMANUEL FORGET,

Lieutenant Governor of the North-West Territories.

SIR,—

I have the honour to submit herewith the Annual Report of the Department of the Territorial Secretary for the year 1903.

I have the honour to be, Sir,

Your obedient servant,

G. H. V. BULYEA,

Territorial Secretary.

DEPARTMENT OF THE TERRITORIAL SECRETARY.

REGINA, January 2, 1903.

The HON. G. H. V. BULYEA,
Territorial Secretary,
Regina.

SIR,—

I have the honour to submit the Report of work performed by this department for the year ending the 31st of December, 1903.

Each department in the public service has, beyond doubt, its own particular guage to mark the rise of progress in the Territories. The Treasury, by the increase in the revenue; Education, by the increase in the number of school districts and registered attendance; Agriculture, by the increased area under crop; the increased number of stock on the ranges and increased exports; Public Works, by the demand for roads and bridges in districts remote from the original line of settlement. So far as the Department of the Territorial Secretary is concerned the increasing prosperity is clearly defined, among other things, by the increased number of joint stock companies incorporated here and by the number of companies, incorporated elsewhere, becoming registered so as to enable them to carry on their business in the Territories, and I am able to show, by tables, the confidence that has now become certainty in the material progress of our country and has induced business men, both at home and abroad, to invest their capital and energy in developing its resources to the uttermost.

A table in the appendix will show the strides made by joint stock companies from 1887, when the first was incorporated, to the 31st December, 1903, and, sanguine as was the belief of those who settled here twenty years ago in the future of the Territories none, I venture to think, would have prophesied an increase in joint stock company capital in fifteen years from $137,000 in 1887 to $8,201,600 in 1902. It will be noted, too, how, during the years when climatic conditions were less favourable, company investments fluctuated with the harvests, and statistics of the crops of the Territories will bear a close analogy, each year, to the number of companies incorporated and amount of capital invested.

In dealing with companies incorporated outside the Territories that have become registered in order to carry on business here the same table is not applicable, as there is no means of ascertaining how much of each company's capital is employed in the Territories, and any statement including the total capital of a company doing business in several of the provinces would be misleading and absurd. I have, therefore, for the purpose of comparison, prepared a table, classifying the various companies but restricted to the number authorised to do business here in any one year.

The great increase in the number of foreign companies that appears in the year 1901 is due to the change in The Foreign Companies Ordinance which made it compulsory for all companies having a resident representative in the Territories to become licensed. This Ordinance was subsequently disallowed at Ottawa, but last year a new Ordinance was passed modified to meet requirements of the Dominion Government, but still requiring every company to become registered before carrying on business here. During the second session of the Legislative Assembly this Ordinance was slightly amended in order to prevent manufacturing companies incorporated outside the Territories from flooding the country with waggons from which their wares would be peddled from farmhouse to farmhouse and, on the plea that they had no resident representative in the country, declining to comply with the requirements of the Ordinance. Certain companies have continued to ignore the Ordinance, and, with a view to setting at rest certain heresies as to its validity, action was brought against the Massey-Harris Company, Limited, to compel them to comply with its provisions. The case was decided in favour of the department and the defendants appealed it to the Supreme Court, but up to the end of the year judgment was reserved. There is no doubt that had the decision of the magistrate before whom the case was tried in the first instance been confirmed during 1903 it would have resulted in a large additional number of companies becoming registered.

MUTUAL FIRE INSURANCE.

A Mutual Fire Insurance Ordinance was passed at the second session of 1903 of the Legislative Assembly which provides that any thirty or more persons, each having an insurable interest in property exposed to damage by fire may, on the payment of a nominal fee, form a mutual fire insurance company with limited liability. The procedure for incorporation is of a very simple nature and already one company, The Alberta Mutual Fire Insurance Company, of Edmonton, has become incorporated and, following the precedent of the older provinces, there is no doubt that each succeeding year will see the numbers materially increase.

VETERINARY SURGEONS.

Owing to the great influx of settlers into the Territories the attention of the department was repeatedly called to the lack of qualified veterinary surgeons in many thickly settled districts. The Ordinance as it stood at the commencement of the second session of the Legislative Assembly of 1903 limited the issue of licences to practise veterinary surgery in the Territories to those holding a diploma issued by any body empowered by law in His Majesty's Dominions to grant it. In order to meet this need the Ordinance was amended and extended the privilege of practising their profession in the Territories to graduates of any school or college in the United States recognised by the American Veterinary Association, a well known supervisory board of high standing, on the production of their diplomas and the payment of the prescribed fee. The schools so recognised are the University of Pennsylvania, New York State, Ohio State University, Chicago Veterinary College, Iowa State College, United States Veterinary College, Kansas City Veterinary College and McKillup Veterinary College.

I regret that it has been found necessary to reject several applications for licences from persons holding diplomas from schools that did not fulfil the requirements of the Ordinance.

MARRIAGE ORDINANCE.

From the first of the year the administration of The Marriage Ordinance has been vested in this department, and consists almost exclusively in furnishing blank licences and accompanying affidavits to those appointed to issue. There are one or more issuers residing in every town and village in the Territories, and the issue and registration of licences has added considerably to the work of the department.

REVENUE.

The revenue derived through the department for the year has been as follows :

Under The Companies Ordinance	$3,634 25
Under The Foreign Companies Ordinance.....	7,119 60
Under The Mutual Fire Insurance Ordinance	10 00
Territorial Gazette.....	645 00
Marriage licences.....	2,456 00
Auctioneer licences	620 00
Pedler licences	750 00
Veterinary surgeon licences	40 00
Certificates under Territorial Seal.....	73 00
	$15,347 85

AUCTIONEERS' AND PEDLERS' LICENCES

Have also been issued by this department from the beginning of the year. The numbers of each have increased in proportion to the increase of the population

In the appendix will be found a summary of all companies incorporated during the year; a list of all commissions issued; licences granted to veterinary surgeons; and list of books added to the library.

I have the honour to be, Sir,

Your obedient servant,

EDW. J. WRIGHT,

Deputy Territorial Secretary.
